

Privacy Notice

Prepared 18 September 2026 | English version

Who this notice covers

This notice explains how TUREDDI GROUP LIMITED handles personal data relating to website visitors, prospective and existing yacht clients, owners' representatives, brokers, event contacts and other business correspondents. Supplier contacts should also read our Supplier Privacy Notice. A privacy notice provides information; it is not a request to consent to every use of data.

1 Who is responsible

TUREDDI GROUP LIMITED is incorporated in England and Wales under company number 15210693, with its registered office at 35 Dover Street, Mayfair, London, W1S 4NQ, United Kingdom. It operates internationally, including through its permanent establishment in Italy (Codice Fiscale 91066550467) and shipyard operations in the Kingdom of Bahrain. TUREDDI GROUP LIMITED is the controller for the activities described here when it determines their purposes and means. Its Italian permanent establishment is part of the same legal person. A separate contracting company or independent broker may be a separate controller and must provide its own information. Legal and privacy enquiries: legal@tureddigroup.com. Marketing and administration: administration@tureddigroup.com. Postal correspondence may be addressed to the registered office, marked for the Legal Department.

2 Information and sources

Depending on your interaction, we receive identity and contact details, employer and role, country, correspondence, meeting and event records, yacht interests, project requirements and information supplied in a client registration. During a transaction, necessary ownership, authority, billing, payment and due diligence information may also be requested through appropriate channels. Website use may generate IP addresses, device and browser information, request logs and consent preferences. Please do not send unnecessary sensitive information through general enquiry forms.

We obtain data from you, your authorised representatives, introducing brokers, business contacts, public company registers and, where relevant, lawful verification providers. Where another person supplies your data, we provide this notice within the period required by law, normally no later than one month and earlier if required by our first communication or disclosure.

3 Why we use data

To answer enquiries, discuss requirements and take steps towards a contract with you, we rely on contract necessity where you are personally the prospective contracting party. For corporate client contacts, representatives and brokers, we rely on legitimate interests in managing business enquiries, introductions and negotiations.

To administer projects, contracts, payments, aftersales and warranty matters, we rely on contract necessity where applicable, legitimate interests in managing corporate relationships and supporting our yachts, and legal obligations for required records. Verification, sanctions or other compliance checks rely on an applicable legal obligation where one binds us, or otherwise on a documented legitimate interest in preventing fraud and unlawful transactions. We do not assume that all yacht enquiries are subject to statutory anti-money-laundering checks.

4 Marketing and website use

We use contact details for requested news and invitations with consent where required by electronic marketing rules. Where the law permits business marketing without consent, we may rely on legitimate interests in promoting relevant products and maintaining business relationships, respecting applicable opt-out rules. An enquiry or broker introduction is not blanket consent to newsletters. Every marketing recipient can object or unsubscribe.

Administrative responses and project communications are separate from marketing.

We use necessary technical data for website delivery, security and fault prevention on the basis of legitimate interests. Optional tracking requires the choices described in our Cookie Information. We assess legitimate interests against individuals' rights and reasonable expectations. Information about a relevant assessment can be requested from us.

5 Who receives data

Access is limited to personnel who need information for their roles and relevant professional advisers. Depending on the matter, recipients may include IT, hosting, communications and customer-management providers; banks, insurers, surveyors, classification bodies, project contractors and logistics providers; an authorised broker or owner's representative; and authorities where disclosure is required or justified by law. We share only what is appropriate to the purpose. Service providers acting on our behalf must be subject to suitable contractual and security obligations. Other recipients may act as independent controllers. Client identities must not be used for public announcements without the required authority.

6 International handling

Personal data may be accessed or handled in the United Kingdom, Italy and, where necessary for the relevant project, Bahrain, as well as countries where our service providers operate. A business presence in a country does not itself authorise a data transfer. Where a transfer is restricted by applicable law, we must use an applicable adequacy decision or appropriate safeguards, such as the EU Standard Contractual Clauses and the UK International Data Transfer Agreement or UK Addendum, as appropriate, with the required assessment and supplementary measures. You may contact us for information about relevant safeguards and a copy, subject to necessary redactions.

7 Retention

We retain information only for the period justified by its purpose. Enquiry records are reviewed when discussions end and while a credible prospect of continued discussions remains. Registration records are retained for the agreed protection period and any necessary commission or dispute period. Contract, payment and warranty records are retained for the transaction, relevant warranty and claims periods, and applicable statutory accounting or tax obligations. Marketing records are retained while there is a valid basis to communicate; minimal suppression records may be retained to honour objections. Security logs and preference records are retained only as needed for security, operation and evidence of choices. Legal holds can extend retention for identified records. Records that no longer serve a justified purpose are deleted or anonymised. You may request information about the retention criteria applicable to your records.

8 Your choices and rights

Depending on the applicable law and circumstances, you may request access, correction, erasure, restriction and portability of your personal data, and object to processing based on legitimate interests. You may object to direct marketing at any time. Where we rely on consent, you may withdraw it without affecting the lawfulness of earlier processing. Contact legal@turedDIGroup.com; we may request proportionate information to verify identity. We respond within the applicable statutory period, generally one month under the UK GDPR or EU GDPR, subject to lawful extensions and exceptions. You may complain to the UK Information Commissioner at ico.org.uk, the Italian Garante at garanteprivacy.it, or another competent supervisory authority, including in your EU country of residence, work or the alleged infringement. Contacting us first is not a condition of that right.

9 Required information and automated decisions

Fields identified as necessary are needed to respond, verify authority, arrange the requested service or satisfy an applicable legal duty. If you do not provide them, we may be unable to progress that request or transaction. Optional marketing choices do not affect access to an enquiry or registration process.

This notice does not authorise solely automated decisions producing legal or similarly significant effects. If such processing is introduced, we must first establish its lawful conditions and provide the required information about its operation, consequences and safeguards.

10 Security and external services

We apply proportionate organisational and technical safeguards and restrict access according to role. No internet or email transmission can be guaranteed secure or error-free. For identity documents, bank details or other sensitive transaction information, request a suitable secure channel. Independently verify changes to payment instructions through an established contact.

If you choose an external link, including a WhatsApp contact link, the external provider's terms and privacy information apply to its own processing. A link alone does not authorise third-party tracking before it is used. Cookies and similar technologies are addressed separately in our Cookie Information.

11 Changes and contact

We will update this notice when our practices or relevant requirements change, and provide further notice where required. The preparation date is shown in this document. Legal and privacy enquiries: legal@turedDIGroup.com. Marketing and administration: administration@turedDIGroup.com. Postal correspondence may be addressed to the registered office, marked for the Legal Department.